We deliver impressive, innovative wineries and breweries.

Apollo Projects has a proud history of developing wineries and breweries that lead the way in their design and functionality. It's a legacy that's seen clients coming back for more.

Since our early days, we've worked with major New Zealand producers in the iconic wine-making regions of Marlborough, Hawke's Bay and Central Otago. Our clients have included Yealand, Wairau River, Wither Hills, Babich and InDevin. We've also lent our expertise to several boutique wineries here and in Canada. Our winery experience has transferred seamlessly to beverage and brewery projects, where we've worked with Lion Co. to design and build its Panhead facilities in Upper Hutt.

At Apollo Projects, we believe developing a winery or brewery is about more than getting ingredients from harvest to bottle. We specialise in crafting intelligent building designs that make the most of the entire wine and brewery production lifecycle, such as vine prunings being used to heat water, and treatment systems that allow wastewater to be reused on the vineyard. Sustainable solutions like these create long-term energy efficiencies that are good for the environment and your back pocket.

Being a full-service design and construction company, we know what systems these sophisticated facilities use and how to apply them. We cover everything from presses, receival bins, de-stemmers, filters, chillers and pumps, all the way to heating, cooling, compressed air, and boiler systems.

Bring innovation to your winery or brewery project, with Apollo Projects.

Your trust is everything to us.

Apollo Projects has been delivering stunning facilities for organisations across Aotearoa since 2001. Our years of experience and highly skilled team ensure your building performs at its best, includes sustainable design, and is a project you can be proud to own.

When our founding directors, Craig Waghorn and Paul Lloyd started Apollo, they were determined to do things differently. They wanted to partner with clients from the very start and take peoples' building ambitions from concept all the way to reality – something the industry hadn't been doing.

We've grown a lot since those early days, but we've never lost sight of what matters most to us – building trusting relationships with the people we serve. It's central to the way we work.

Apollo Projects is different simply because we do the mahi as your partner and use our expertise to ensure your completed facility does what it should, on time and within budget.

It's our belief that a client's trust is everything, and we are as committed to this today as we were the day it all began.

We raise the bar and lead the way.

At Apollo Projects, we've never been afraid to raise the bar even higher and set new standards for what is possible. For us, success isn't something you leave to chance. We believe that the best buildings start with a solid foundation – their design.

Unlike other construction companies, we'll partner with you from the very start to ensure your design works for you. This means getting involved in your project at the beginning and taking the journey with you right up until we hand you the keys.

We listen to your needs, talk to the right trades early, and craft innovative solutions that ensure your building performs as it should. It's a way of working that reduces the risk of your project needing costly design changes down the track.

Our experts know what works and what doesn't, and our partnerships with key consultants and contractors ensure you're getting competitive prices, quality and performance, every time.

Talk to us today about making your project a reality.
